Why we're here

Whatever your problem, we'll help you solve it.

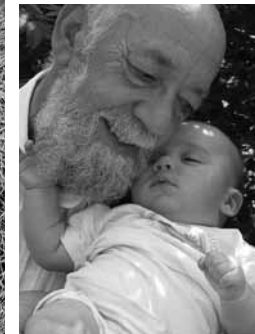

Everyone needs good legal advice once in a while. It's important for the big decisions in life, like buying or selling a property, drawing up a contract or making a will. And it's downright essential when life gets messy and you need to sort out disputes or fight for a fair settlement.

At Windeatts, we've wide-ranging expertise in property and commercial law, private client law and litigation.

Whatever your situation, we guide you through the legal complexities towards a simple answer. We're good and sympathetic listeners, and we're accomplished at finding solutions to knotty problems. You'll get expert individual attention at a cost-effective price, every time.

We've served our local community in the South Hams since 1832, and over that time we've built up a strong reputation as skilled, friendly and straightforward advisers.

Our firm is shaped around our clients. And we're determined to do our best for you.

What we're like

We know
our stuff.
But we're never stuffy.

Windeatts lawyers are human as well as smart. You'll find us friendly and approachable, without any airs and graces. We believe it's one of the reasons for our success as a firm. After all, many of our clients are going through difficult times, and we don't want to make them any harder.

So while we pride ourselves on our legal knowledge, we also make sure that we explain things clearly and simply, in plain English. We're not interested in jargon or long-windedness. And we're professional, but distinctly unstuffy.

We think you'll notice the difference.

We're experts in Property and Commercial Law.

We have a well-established reputation with businesses and employers in the area, handling everything from starting up new companies to advising on employment contracts, policies and disputes. We work hard to establish a strong relationship with individual business clients, and with many companies this relationship has lasted for decades.

We're particularly strong on commercial property, handling all types of transactions for shops, offices, restaurants, pubs, clubs and hotels.

We also have many years of local knowledge and a wealth of experience in buying and selling residential property and so can guide you through the often complex process of these property transactions.
